With January in the books it is time to bring on February! My personal excitement stems from getting to see Mr. Mansons hard work pay off on the gridiron. The football team practices daily for an hour and is well deserving of some real game time. Mr. P is acclimated and beginning to hit his stride as a well-balanced Instructor. If he isn't sporting a fresh haircut, you can find him stirring up the ghouls and goblins amidst an important magic face-off. One thing is for certain; the students are doing a wonderful job of being respectful, responsible, and reflective. Go Bears!
